THE BENEFITS OF A SPORTS MASSAGE AT THE V*

An athlete's biggest enemy, besides injuries, are the aches they experience the day after training or competing. But these aches can be avoided if the stage of recovery is managed well. This is where the sports massage comes in. The muscle aches appear because of the toxins which have been released during the physical effort but haven't been eliminated. The best solution to remove these toxins from the vessels, is a massage. Another objective is to relax the muscles, which are constantly under pressure, by giving them back their firmness. This will allow the tired body to regain a certain vitality. This element is key for athletes who are quickly moving from one competition or training to the next. One can limit the risk of injury, by respecting the stage of recovery.
